Your duty of disclosure

If you are the Policy Owner, you have a duty to tell us anything that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, which may affect our decision to insure you and any other Life Insured and on what terms.

You have this duty until we agree to insure you, and also before you extend, vary or reinstate the Policy.

You do not need to tell us anything that:

- reduces our risk; or
- is common knowledge; or
- we know or should know as an insurer; or
- we waive your duty to tell us about.

For contracts of insurance entered into, renewed, extended, varied or reinstated from 28 December 2015, if you are a Life Insured (other than the Policy Owner), any failure by you to tell us this information may be treated as a failure by the Policy Owner to comply with this duty of disclosure.

If you do not tell us something

If you are the Policy Owner, and you do not tell us anything you are required to, and we would not have insured you if you had told us, we may avoid the contract within 3 years of entering into it.

If we choose not to avoid the contract, we may reduce the amount you have been insured for, based on a statutory formula. (We may only exercise this right within 3 years of entering into the Policy if it provides death cover.)

If we choose not to avoid the Policy or reduce the amount you have been insured for, if your Policy does not provide death cover, we may vary the contract in a way that places us in the same position we would have been in if you had told us everything you should have.

If your failure to tell us is fraudulent, we may refuse to pay a claim and treat the contract as if it never existed.

We may apply these rights separately to each type of cover that we consider could form a separate policy.
